Ang Pahayag ng Pakiki-isa: Labanan ang Oligarkiyang Militar sa Indonesia at Tuligsain ang mga Dinastiya sa Timog Silangang Asya, Likhain ang Kapangyarihan sa Laylayan

Kami ay kaisa ng mga kapatid at kasama na Indonesian sa kani-lang pakikibaka laban sa panunumbalik ng militar sa pamamahala. Iniuugnay namin ito sa kilusang masa sa Pilipinas at ng buong Timog-Silangang Asya na nakikibaka para sa tunay na kalayaan.

Labanan Ang Indonesian National Armed Forces Bill (UU TNI)

Karamihan sa pamayanan ng Timog Silangang Asya ay kasalukuyang nasa ilalim pa rin ng awtoritaryan at diktaduryang militar tulad ng sa Myanmar.

Sa Indonesia, mahigit dalawampung taon na ang nakaraan ay matagumpay na pinabagsak ng kilusang Reformasi ang diktaduryang militar. Ngunit nariyan pa rin ang saklaw ng militar sa sibilyan na kaayusan, at kamakailan ay nagnanais itong ikonsolida ang kanilang panunumbalik sa kapangyarihan. Dagdag pa rito, nais ng pamahalaan ng Indonesia, sa ilalim ng dating berdugo ni Suharto na si Prabowo, na bawasan ang badyet para sa edukasyon. Isa itong tahasang hakbang para mangmgangin ang mamamayan at ipakalimot ang dusang naranasan ng Indonesia sa ilalim ng 30 taong diktadurya. Kaya naman nitong huli ay muling nag-aklas ang mga mamamayang Indonesian upang tutulan ang UU TNI — ang batas na nagpapahintulot na makialam ang mga militar sa sibilyan na pamumuhay.

Sabay-sabay na nagprotesta sa iba't ibang bahagi ng Indonesia ang mga mamamayan nito. Ang sigaw ng mga kabataan, magsasaka, manggagawa at maralita ay "Kita tidak butuh militer dalam urusan sipil!" — Hindi namin kailangan ang Militar na makialam sa aming pamumuhay.

Bakit Magkaugnay Ang Ating Pakikibaka?

Ang dating tambalang Marcos-Duterte at ang mga dinastiyang politiko sa Pilipinas ay hindi naiiba sa mga oligarkong militar sa Indonesia at Myanmar. Pareho nilang ayaw sa pananagutan at sagka din sila sa kalayaan at pag-unlad ng karaniwang mamamayan. Ang kanilang modus ay panatilihing tagalimos lamang ang karaniwang mamamayan sa kanilang ayuda tuwing may sakuna o eleksyon para tuluyan nang hindi tayo makabangon sa pagkaka-utang na loob. Panay pangako ng pag-unlad ang naganap sa ilalim ng “Bagong Lipunan” ni Marcos Sr. (“Bagong Pilipinas” naman kina “Marcos-Duterte”) at “Orde Baru” ni Suharto. Pero sa dokumentadong katotohanan, bagsak na ekonomiya, dayuhang ganansya, mahal na bilihin, pananakot ng militar, at busal sa bibig ang mga kinahan-tungan ng mga pangakong ito. Ngayon, sa popular na pamumuno ni Prabowo, may maaasahan ba talagang pag-unlad gayong walang nagbago, gayong ang mga namumuno noon ay muli na namang namumuno ngayon?

Ang hinaing ng karaniwang Indonesian ay kadugtong ng ating hininga, malinaw itong nagsasabing ayaw na nating maging alipin sa predatoryang politika ng oligarkiya at dinastiya.

Dapat silang pabagsakin at kasabay nito ay napapanahon nang buohin ng malayang kilusang masa ang kapangyarihan sa bawat lay-layan. Sa pamamagitan ng magkakaugnay na kapangyarihang lokal ay mabibigyan ng katuwiran ang buktot na pamamahala ng mga dinastiya at oligarko na matagal nang nang-aalipin saan mang dako ng karagatan.

Your walls will crumble,
Your laws will burn,
Your power will dissolve like ash in the wind.
For we are the people,
wild, untamed, and free.
And we will fight,
not just for Indonesia,
but for the boundless, anarchist love of freedom
that lives in us all.

In Rage and Solidarity, Indonesia

We rise, not in silence, but in raging fire.
 A wildfire of defiance, fueled by the love of freedom,
 and the unyielding spirit of those who refuse to kneel.
 This is not just a fight for Indonesia,
 but a battle cry for every soul who dares to dream
 of a world unchained, unbowed, unbroken.
 We reject the chains of militarism,
 the cold steel of authoritarianism,
 and the suffocating grip of neo-fascism.
 We are the voices of the oppressed,
 the hands that build barricades,
 the hearts that beat for anarchy—
 the chaos, and the beautiful disorder of liberation.
 We will not let the shadows of Suharto's regime
 darken the skies of tomorrow.
 We will not let Prabowo's militaristic dreams
 trample the gardens of democracy.
 We are the storm, the reckoning,
 the ungovernable force that says:
 Enough is enough.
 To the tyrants, the enforcers, the architects of oppression:

Open Call: International Solidarity for Indonesian Democracy

Halt Indonesia's Slide into Military Dictatorship—Repeal the Authoritarian TNI Law Before It's Too Late!

We, Indonesian groups, organizations, activists, and individuals, raise our voices in outrage and condemnation as the Indonesian Parliament legalizes the revised Indonesian National Armed Forces Bill (UU TNI) today – 20.03.2025. This law marks a devastating blow to democracy, human rights, and civilian supremacy in Indonesia, signaling a dangerous shift toward militarism and the rise of neo-fascist tendencies reminiscent of the dark days of the Suharto regime.

The revised UU TNI, now enacted, grants the military unprecedented powers to intervene in law enforcement, counter-terrorism, and civilian affairs. This blatant militarization of Indonesian society threatens to dismantle decades of democratic progress, suppress dissent, and institutionalize human rights violations. By eroding the boundary between military and civilian roles, this law entrenches authoritarianism and undermines the very foundations of democracy.

We cannot ignore the historical parallels. Under Suharto's military-backed dictatorship (1966–1998), Indonesia endured a brutal regime characterized by widespread human rights abuses, corruption, and the suppression of democracy. The military, or TNI, was a central pillar of Suharto's authoritarian rule, acting as both a political enforcer and a tool of repression. The regime's fascist tendencies silenced dissent, exploited resources for personal gain, and entrenched systemic corruption, leaving a legacy of trauma and injustice that Indonesians are still grappling with today.

The revised UU TNI risks reviving this dark chapter. By expanding the military's role in civilian affairs, the law paves the way for a return to the militarism, corruption, and authoritarianism of the Suharto era. This is not just a step backward—it is a leap toward neo-fascism, where the military becomes a tool of oppression. A Dangerous Continuation of Militarism

The timing of this law is deeply alarming, given the political rise of Prabowo Subianto, a former military general with a controversial past. Prabowo, who served as a high-ranking officer under Suharto, has been implicated in numerous human rights abuses, including the kidnapping of pro-democracy activists in 1998 and atrocities in East Timor and Papua. His political ascension, now as Indonesia's president, raises serious concerns about the resurgence of militarism and authoritarianism in the country.

Prabowo's background as a military leader with close ties to the Suharto regime underscores the dangers of the revised UU TNI. His presidency, combined with the expanded powers granted to the military, creates a perfect storm for the erosion of democracy and the normalization of authoritarian practices. This law not only reflects Prabowo's militaristic vision for Indonesia but also threatens to legitimize the use of military force against civilians, activists, and political opponents. We stand in unwavering solidarity with the people of Indonesia—students, activists, human rights defenders, and civil society organizations—who have courageously opposed this law. Our voices represent the aspirations of a free and democratic Indonesia, have been ignored by a government that prioritizes militarization over the will of its people.

We Demand Immediate Action:

1. Repeal the Revised UU TNI Now: The Indonesian government must immediately revoke this dangerous law and halt all efforts to expand the military's role in civilian life.
2. Restore Civilian Control: The military must be subordinated to civilian authority, as required in any democratic society. Its role must be strictly limited to defending the nation from external threats.

3. End Militarization and Protect Human Rights: The Indonesian government must ensure that the revised UU TNI is not used to suppress dissent, target activists, or violate human rights.
4. Respect the People's Resistance: The government must listen and obey to the millions of Indonesians who have protested this law and reject any attempt to silence their voices.
5. Global Accountability: The international community must hold the Indonesian government accountable for the consequences of this law, including any human rights abuses or democratic backsliding.

Since this article was written, at least 19 cities have simultaneously held protest demonstrations following the enactment of the TNI Law on March 20, 2025: Jakarta, Bandung, Manado, Pekanbaru, Yogyakarta, Makassar, Padang, Pontianak, Semarang, Samarinda, Medan, Papua, Ambon, Surabaya, Malang, Lampung, Bali, Palembang, and Aceh. During these protests, there has also been excessive use of violence by the police. The targets of this violence were random, such as the general public, anarchists, students, journalists, and even online motorcycle drivers. Nearly every city that held protests experienced police violence. A news agency (TEMPO), known for its criticism of government policies and performance, was terrorized by receiving a package containing a severed pig's head.

To the International Community:

The legalization of the revised UU TNI is not just an Indonesian problem—it is a global crisis. Indonesia plays a critical role in the fight for democracy and human rights in Southeast Asia and beyond, therefore, the rise of militarism and neo-fascism in Indonesia threatens regional stability and sets a dangerous precedent for authoritarian regimes worldwide.

The people of Indonesia have fought too hard and sacrificed too much for democracy to allow their country to slide back into the militarism, corruption, and authoritarianism of the Suharto era. We cannot remain silent as neo-fascism rises in Indonesia. Together, we must resist, fight back, and stand in solidarity with the people of Indonesia.
